

Cultures of Knowledge in Early Modern Europe

A Seminar in the Humanities Division of the University of Oxford
Trinity Term 2010, Thursdays 3-5pm, Colin Matthew Room, Faculty of History
Conveners: Pietro Corsi and Peter Harrison

Thursday 29 April

Noël Golvers (Catholic University of Leuven)

Scholarly Correspondence from the Jesuits in China with Europe (17th–18th Centuries)

Thursday 6 May

Elizabethanne Boran (Trinity College Dublin)

'Live and speak unto the Church, when you are dead': The Correspondence of James Ussher (1581–1656) and Samuel Ward (1572–1643)

Thursday 13 May

Alan Stewart (Columbia University/CELL, QMUL)

Writing Francis Bacon's Letters

Thursday 20 May

Henry Woudhuysen (University College London)

Writing a Letter in Seventeenth-Century England: Forms and Formats with commentary from Peter Beal (School of Advanced Study)

Thursday 27 May

Stefano Villani (University of Pisa)

Tuscan Readings of the English Revolution: The Correspondence of Amerigo Salvetti and Giovanni Salvetti Antelminelli

Thursday 3 June

Mirjam de Baar (University of Groningen)

Building Up an International Spiritual Network: The Correspondence of Antoinette Bourignon (1616–1680)

Thursday 10 June

Dirk van Miert (Huygens Institute)

The Seventeenth-Century Culture of Editing Scholarly Correspondences: The Case of Joseph Scaliger (1540–1609), and Paul Botley (Warburg Institute)
The Letters of Isaac Casaubon (1559–1614) and Richard Thomson (c.1570–1613)

Wednesday 23 June

Peter Miller (Bard Graduate Center)

Peiresc's Mediterranean Merchant Network

Seminars will be followed by a wine reception. The series forms part of 'Cultures of Knowledge: An Intellectual Geography of the Seventeenth-Century Republic of Letters', a collaboration between the Bodleian Library and the Humanities Division of the University of Oxford with generous funding from The Andrew W. Mellon Foundation

CULTURES of KNOWLEDGE

cofk@humanities.ox.ac.uk
+44 (0)1865 615026

www.culturesofknowledge.org